ATTORNEY STRICKEN IN THEATER, DIES

Harrison B. Brown Victim of Cerebral Hemorrhage.

END - COMES IN HOSPITAL

Well-known Patent Lawyer Collapses in Chair While Watching Moving Pictures - Rushed to Emergency in Ambulance While Physician Works Heroically.

Stricken with cerebral hemorrhage while in a moving picture theater in Ninth street yesterday afternoon, Harrison Bradley Brown, a patent attorney of this city, connected with the firm of Munn & Co., died within an hour after being taken to Emergency Hospital. He did not recover consciousness from the time he was stricken until death occurred.

Mr. Brown was watching the show from a rear seat of the playhouse when the attack came. The first indication of his illness was given others in the audience when he suddenly collapsed in his chair. In the darkened house a score of cries went up, and attendants hurried to the stricken man's side.

Phones for Ambulance.

The performance came to a sudden halt, and the audience fled out while the manager of the theater telephoned the Emergency Hospital. First efforts to revive Mr. Brown proving unavailing, the hospital physician resorted to heroic treatment as the ambulance sped toward the hospital.

Mr. Brown was taken into the hospital at 5:45 o'clock, fifteen minutes after he had been stricken. Death ensued about 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. Brown's death came as a shock to his professional acquaintances in this city. When he left the office of the company shortly before 6 o'clock he appeared in good health, and announced his intention of visiting the moving picture houses in Ninth street before going home.

Native of Washington.

He was fifty-six years old and resided at 1340 G Street northwest. He had been a life-long resident of Washington, and was recognized by patent attorneys as an expert on matters of research. He had been connected with the firm of Munn & Co. for years.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife and three children—Mrs. C. G. Gahn, Mrs. Guy S. Matheson, and Wilmarth Brown. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. It is probable that a delegation from the Washington Patent Law Association will attend the services.

LABOR MEN'S CASE SLATED.

Motion to Dismiss Will Be Heard Monday.

The question of designating an examiner in chancery to take proof in the contempt charges against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, and Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, and the evidence offered by the respondents in refutation, as asked by the committee of prosecutors, was not decided by Justice Wright yesterday.

The motion to dismiss the proceedings against the labor leaders will be heard before the entire bench of the District Supreme Court on Monday.

Attorney Jackson H. Baldwin, for the labor men, contended for the right of his clients to be heard in open court and to be confronted there by the witnesses that might be offered against them, and where they would have the protection of the court.

HER AGED MOTHER DYING.

Josephine Donnellan, a Milliner, Sought by the Police.

The police last night were requested to locate Miss Elizabeth Josephine Donnellan, a milliner, thirty years old, by Marshall Farnham, of the Baltimore police department. Miss Donnellan was heard from in this city, where, it is said, she was employed by a large department store.

Her aged mother is dying and wants her daughter at her deathbed. Every effort is being made to locate the woman.

VISITED INDIAN AGENCIES.

Frederick H. Abbott Returns from Tour of Inspection in West.

Frederick H. Abbott, assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs, returned to the city yesterday after a visit of three weeks among the five Indian agencies north and northwest of Nebraska. Mr. Abbott visited the reservations at Fort Berthold, Devils Lake, North Cheyenne, Crow, and Cheyenne River. At two of these places—Fort Berthold, N. Dak., and North Cheyenne, Mont.—he attended Indian courts at Devil's Lake. He met with the committee preparing to hold a fair there.

The department is encouraging these fairs as they stimulate the Indians in agriculture, stock-raising, and the household arts.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer has returned to Washington until Monday morning, when he will take up the investigation of the $500,000 shortage at the Washington Navy Yard. He will insist upon the whole of this material be accounted for, if it is possible to do so.

Eight Hundred on Strike.

A. V. Dye, American consul at Nogales, Mexico, has reported to the State Department that a strike has occurred at Cananea and 800 of a force of 3,000 laborers have quit work. The garrison of the city is very small and the military commander has asked for reinforcements.

Debaters Favor Transfers.

The affirmative side in a debate as to whether universal transfers should be issued in the District won its point yesterday. The winning team comprised S. L. Marlow, J. L. Medley, and J. V. Marsh. The negative side was upheld by R. H. Heald, R. C. Keefer, and O. G. Kelly.

INTERESTED IN VOTING FOR ASPIRING TRIPPERS

Votes for Candidates in The 'Round the World and European Tour Contest Reach The Herald Office in Many Ways, Often Accompanied by Letters Wishing the Candidates Success.

Everywhere, everybody seems to be accumulating ballots for some candidate in the 'Round the World and European Tour Contest, and it looks as though some of the present "unknowns" will be among the "future greats," and probably at the next announcement.

Each day the voting procession continues, all depositing single and subscription votes for their favorites, and the clipped coupons arrive at the office of the Tour Department in every imaginable way.

A man will enter, and after a great deal of fumbling through a ponderous pocketbook, draw out one coupon, which will be carefully deposited. Small boys, grimy-faced in some instances, drop crumpled and well-worn votes for their candidate. Staid old ladies in a very dignified manner deposit their ballots with much seriousness.

Many of the votes are inclosed in letters wishing the candidate success and inquiring as to what the Tour Department "thinks of his chances." These ballots are little messages of good will and affection for those who have enrolled their names.

Who will take and retain the lead in the different districts seems to be a vital question with the candidate. It is a little early to commence worrying over this. The time that it really pays to be first is on the closing night, although, of course, most persons like to be "on the band wagon." The vote announcement yesterday disclosed the fact that no candidate has an insurmountable lead. With well-directed efforts almost any candidate can be well up among the top of the heap at the next announcement.

You see, some candidates have greater opportunities for securing votes at the commencement of the contest than others. This cuts absolutely no figure. The idea is, who can secure the greatest number of votes in the prescribed time the contest will continue.

There have been many inquiries as to the limit of time for entrance of new candidates. There is no time limit. Candidates may enroll at any time during the life of the contest, as far as possible the tour representatives are calling on the candidates who have been nominated and are explaining to them fully all the details of the contest plan. If some one has already not seen you, come in and consult the Tour Manager. He may be able to whisper some subtle secrets as to the best methods of securing votes, and can possibly develop voting strength for you which you had no idea you could control. If you have been wondering that you could enter and win, at least give him an opportunity to discuss it with you. He may be able to show you where you can win.

Although you may consider that you are getting a late start in the race, careful planning and execution can bring you to the top of the list at the next announcement.
